Dear John,

Reference is made to our recent exchanges of emails.

Firstly, I hereby confirm that I have never acted for Mr. Viktor Khrapunov otherwise than in the context of a « typical » activity.

As far as Mr. Iliyas Khrapunov is concerned, according to Swiss law, he is only entitled to request limited information or documentation in relation to our KYC files. His right to access to "his" KYC file does in particular not extend to data, documents or information (including notes and internal memos) which we have gathered for the purpose of our regulatory obligations (pursuant to the Swiss AMLA for instance). These are internal, and proprietary, information and documentation that we cannot disclose to our former client.

As a result, I hand over this day to Mr. Iliyas Khrapunov a copy of the following documents:

- Client profile
- Identification of the Ultimate Beneficial Owner (together with a copy of his passports)
- Corporate documents of the relevant companies, and
- Fiduciary agreements (between Chabrier and Iliyas Khrapunov)

Yours sincerely,

Marc GILLIERON
